THE INSTITUTE FOR TRANSNATIONAL ARBITRATION

The Institute for Transnational Arbitration, one of eight educational divisions of The Center for American and International Law (formerly the Southwestern Legal Foundation), was launched in 1986 and has since become an important education forum in the field of transnational arbitration. Through its annual Transnational Commercial Arbitration Workshop in Dallas, its publication News and Notes with its acclaimed Scoreboard of Adherence to Transnational Arbitration Treaties, its sponsorship of the web portal KluwerArbitration.com, and its educational video series, ITA is making a significant contribution to the legal knowledge and skills that support international commercial arbitration.

Membership in the Institute for Transnational Arbitration (ITA) is available to individuals, law firms and corporations. Each member of ITA may appoint a representative to the ITA Advisory Board. That person is invited to attend, without charge, the annual ITA Workshop and the annual Advisory Board meeting, which is held at the time of the Workshop. Advisory Board members are also invited to attend without charge the invitation-only ITA Forum on current transnational arbitration issues held on the morning after the Workshop.

Members also receive each issue of the ITA's quarterly newsletter, News and Notes, with its Scoreboard of Adherence to Transnational Arbitration Treaties, and a substantial discount off the price of all ITA educational video products. For complete information about all member benefits and how to become a member, visit us online at www.cailaw.org/ita.
